published annually by the students of lick-wilmerding high school, san francisco, california

during his two years at lick morton marcus has created classes where the barrier that often separates teacher and student is nonexistent.
this stimulates discussion between both mr. marcus and the students which results in a class that is not only held on a high academic level but one that is also enjoyable to attend.
but mr. marcus does not confine himself to the classroom. in his first year at lick, he coached the "b" and "c" basketball teams to championships, while devoting a large amount of his time to lick's open house. this year he has been responsible for bringing many authors and poets to lick, giving many students the chance to come in contact with the new trends in literature. in thanks for these and his many other contributions to the school, the class of 1967 wishes to dedicate this yearbook to morton

nothing demonstrates more accurately the life, activity, and achievement of a school than the records compiled by students of that school in its annual year-book. the annual speaks for the record. once assembled, edited and issued, the measurement of that year is permanently "in the record". hence the job of the staff of any year-book is both important and carries with it a responsibility that is of utmost importance.

though the tiger has ranged through more than seventy years from poor, adequate and superior, just as have the year's activities and accomplishments have varied, each editor and staff has, in preparing the year-book, hoped that the school will give them material which can be used to reflect a good school year. without real achievements in all areas of school life the tiger cannot report an outstanding year. and seniors cannot take the greatest pride in the year-book which does not report a fine year in their most important and final year at lick-wilmerding.

this year's staff has done a remarkably fine job in this, the 1967 tiger. their gathered material is presented in a clear, interesting and significant manner. their job is certainly well-done. to those who have accomplished an excellent reporting job, great credit is due to those students who have made their reporting a challenging and interesting assignment great credit is due. therefore we feel that the '67 tiger qualifies as one of our better annuals. it follows then that 1966-67 has been a good school year. we are proud of all who have, by participation and achievements, brought this to pass.

I remember: the friends that weren't and those that are; my concern for Lick's welfare; the freshman year; the faculty who taught much more than book knowledge; the long talks that molded friendships; the sophomore year; the girl Susie; the extra-curricular activities; the junior year; the elections I won and lost; this year; the ones who cared enough to give of themselves; the academics and what they teach; the small good I accomplished and the great pain I inflicted; my search for life and myself.

last will and testament

i, tom ashley, will to mr. perse, my humor in knowledge that it will improve his class; to mr. high my ability to do a project in half the time by using the wrong tools; and to mr. marcus, my book on economics to take him from the bliss of ignorance.

i, bryce bawden, being of questionable mind, do hereby bequeath to pete richards, a bottle of curl free; to john goldman, a spool of thread; to hut landon, a bar mitzvah; to john dunphy, a gift certificate good anywhere on webster st.

i, mike bernstein, will my free time (next year) to any of my old classmates needing it to regain sanity, and will my occasional dyspeptic moods to the petty bureaucrats who will inherit the earth.

i, rene bine, will a little luck to ric urrea and dan gurney; to mr. marcus, an american car; and to mr. cordon, what knowledge i have of automobiles and a lifetime supply of plastic rear windows.

i, gene conti, do hereby will and bequeath to andrew alexander, my dribbling ability.

i, john dunphy, will to pete richards, my innocence; to bryce bawden, all my ashtrays; to hut landon, my smile and my extra bazooka shells; and finally, to mary jane, my love.

i, dave eandi, will to mr. cordon, one date; to mr. marcus, my pen with white ink, plus three refills; and to josh, the original recording of "hello, hello."

i, william faisst, being of degenerate mind and decrepit body, do hereby bequeath to mr. coffey, a six month sabbatical on baffin island; to mrs. eisenberg, one "g" and 10 no homeworks; to mrs. crome, 4 term papers; and to the freshman class, one quiet 6th study hall.

i, don fowler, do bequeath to king moore, my size, and to john vonk, my love of football, knowing that they will be in dire need of these, my treasures.

i, ron friedman, will to doc, a new cushion; to jack, a golden window lock; to josh reichert, a box of pigeon feed; and to mr. marcus, ten gallons of fresca, dietetic, of course!

i, jim gawley, being of sound mind and body, will some of my guitar-playing ability to finnerty, one sponge to rich knez, my spanish heritage and one geep to pete, to larry, an autographed picture of princeton charlie.

i, ed glynn, will to josh reichert my up-to-date map of the city, with main drink dispensers marked with liquid stars, and upon graduation, a similar map of the united states.

i, john goldman, will to hut landon a year's supply of rides to the college of his choice, and to mr. penn, a complimentary remark to george miers.

i, joe greco, will to jim gawley, one can of mexican chili; to rich knez, a '63 plymouth; and to gino balestino, one flashlight for walks in hunter's point and galoshes for long walks on water.

i, tom haugen, being of sound body, will to mr. ragland, my right hand elcit set; to gary balestin, my copy of the lutheran catechism; and to d. zelin-sky, a southern white citizens' button.

i, erv hintzpeter, do hereby bequeath my entire fleet of packards to the lick boy who possesses the deepest inferiority complex due to a deprivation of fast cars.

i, larry hutchinson, will to king moore, my superb eyesight, agility, and a complete set of splints and joint supports; to j. johnston, one camel; and to rich zimmerman, a set of cooking utensils for his future medical career.

i, jarlath alexander johnston, do hereby bequeath to the l.w. student body all my earthly possessions: a cassock, scimitar, and a well-worn copy of the brothers k.

i, nathan kaufman, do hereby will the following to anybody: seven broken baseball bats, and a football which i used on the day when there were only nine players at practice.

i, rich knez, do hereby will to jim gawley, one real marriage license; to joe greco, a membership to corvairs anonymous; and to dave presson, my outstanding mathematical ability.

i, hut landon, will to dunphy and richards, but not to bawden, my sister; to bawden, a new family; to miss gamboa, a new study hall; and to dunphy, a jewish wife.

i, jonathan c. lewis, bequeath to all students my prodigious number of cinch notes, probation reports, and tardy slips, and the innate ability to get the most out of the skin of my teeth.

i, rym maggiora, hereby bequeath to mr. penn, a sink so that he won't have to use his bathtub; to mr. marcus, one russian peasant; and to mr. cordon, the sixth payment on his car.

i, harry merryman, hereby will to morton marcus, one cellar of fine wines, so that he will not show the adverse effects of beer.

i, jim messinger, will the state of montana to erv hintzpeter, because no one else wants it; to jim ploss, the state of massachusetts because it has harvard, mit, and swarthmore; and to tom ashley, the state of imagination.

i, george miers, hereby will to andy alexander, one original cut of "rambling rose"; to the james boys, my mop; and to jack coffey, one uncut version of women in love so that he can see that gudrun did not dance nude in front of cows.

i, alan pampanin, being of sound mind, dislocated knee and cracked ankle will the aforementioned to lick-wilmerding, except, of course, the cracked ankle and knee.

i, jeffrey alan plack, herewith do leave to dave, a lovely grin; to robert "wick" pratt, 13 staples taken from the walls of the gym; to james gawley, a human hand; and to the archduke of westlake, the man who has everything, i leave nothing.

i, james ploss, will to klonoff and mcfely, my infamous ploss double gambit, and to dr. kelley, my "nuts and berries" society.

i, dave presson, being of caffeine bolstered mind, wish i could will doc kelley my chuckled-filled watchings; to mr. coffey, a vacuum cleaner for his mind, and to miss gamboa, the vacuumings, so that a balance will be reached.

i, george richards, bequeath to the school paper a perpetual dirt bomb, and to the open house committee, an everlasting supply of clean white sheets.

i, pete richards, will to greg, my car; to george, my mother; to larry, my drinking ability; to john, my yellow sweater; and to jim, one trip to salamanca.

i, greg richardson, will to paul james, my monday afternoon doctor's pass; to jim gawley, part of my poverty; and to chip mckinney, my comfortable window seat in civics.

i, martin ritchie, give to ivan fyodorvitch, a grain of belief which i could never use, and to mort, doc, and sarah, one hand-moulded, tuned, and balanced karmann ghia.

i, frank robbins, do hereby bequeath to tony marcus 26 short haircuts to be used on alternate saturdays, and to doug rich, one year's supply of cheery "hello's". hullo, sir.

i, duncan russell, will to jerry arena, a completed report of the lunar surface, and to mrs. crome, more fingers for the purpose of counting.

i, steve saarman, hereby will to john dunphy, a dog catcher's license to pick up dogs wandering around alta plaza; and to "blando" and pete, kink-free hair conditioner.

i, david shein, will all my worldly possessions to anyone who appreciates them; my portfolio of 365 poems to mr. marcus; and all my money to jeff (as if he could use an extra 27c).

i, russ tahir, hereby will to hut landon, a new body for his tank; to john dunphy, collars for his dogs; and to greg richardson and liz gillis, a ouija board.

i, phil vardara, will my unusual and seldom-seen swimming ability to anyone who may have the misfortune to need them.

i, j.j. walsh, bequeath my fragrant football frock, alias jersey, to anyone wanting desperately to play the sport.

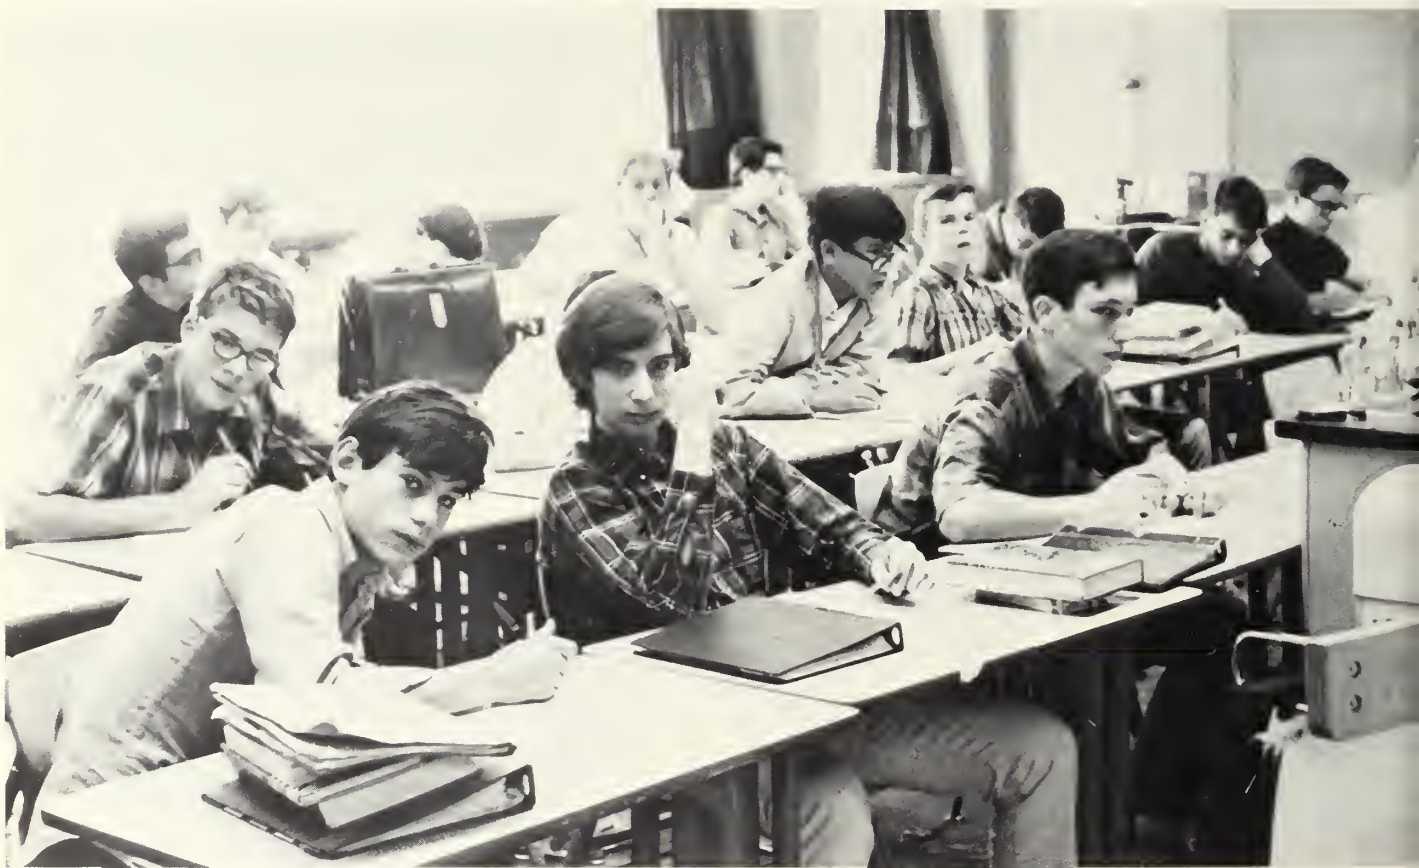

i, doug whitener, do hereby will to the lick-wilmerding sports department, one new computer to be used when eric naftaly graduates.

i, laurence wrockloff, will my ability to miss a state of the union message for a football game to uncle mort; a square meal to robbins; to miers, a happy 5727; and to j.c. a bible to live by.

i, david zelinsky, will to mr. anthony the golden box; to mrs. crome a worthy cause; to mr. coffey the white liebestod; and to mr. marcus, the green weenie.

i, richard zimmerman, will to dan sullivan my biology notes so that he too may enjoy the pleasures of advanced biology, and to john thomas, my seldom-used practice jersey.

the 1966 football season was a true challenge to the squad of fifteen players. inspired by the new coaching of fred de funiak and assistant bob simi, the football team could not overcome the obstacles of a small turn-out and injuries.

although the record will not display the fact, the squad always played a tough, hard-nosed brand of football. however, when the same boys had to play both offense and defense all four quarters, they could not keep up with the other teams who had at least two units of players.

among the few bright spots of the rather disappointing season were the work of co-captains pete richards and george miers. pete anchored an outstanding line composed of center larry wrockloff, guard tim jones, tackles nate kaufman, jim mc dowell, gary balestein, and ends don fowler and greg richardson. george was the spark of the backfield which included halfbacks paul james, king moore, frank robbins, john thomas, and full-backs jim walsh and larry hutchinson. for their great work, pete and george were named to the all-league team while tim jones and greg richardson were given honorable mention to the all-league squad.

self-reliance, courage, and endurance were the qualities that made the team. the team made an excellent representative for the meaning and value of football.

this year's varsity basketball team followed in the well-established tradition of championship teams. new coach jim brovelli had comparatively little to work with, as there was only one returning starter from last year's team; yet, he developed another winning ball club for lick.

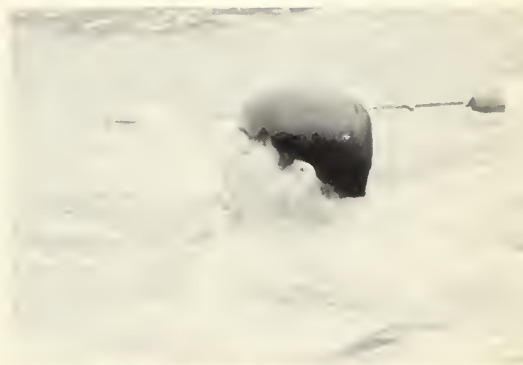

doug whitener, the returning player, had an exceptional season as team captain and floor leader. tall tiger gene conti, center, was the leading scorer, with forward dave eandi being the team's leading rebounder. ron friedman and mark citret shared the second forward position and played tough ball all year. because of an injury in the first half of the season, josh reichert, filling the backcourt as second guard, was not as effective as hoped for; however, replacement rusty tahir did well despite the circumstances. the remainder of the lick team included jim messinger, mike popovac, al marks, john vonk, nigel macrae, and andy alexander. because of a defeat in a close game at the hands of emery and a shocking loss to menlo at the second-to-last league game, the tigers settled for a first-place tie with emery. for their great play, gene conti, doug whitener, dave eandi, and rusty tahir were all named to all-league teams. in the tournaments, the tigers lost to the eventual winner pittsburg and then went on to win the consolation bracket at san ramon. at del oro, the tigers played well and placed fourth.

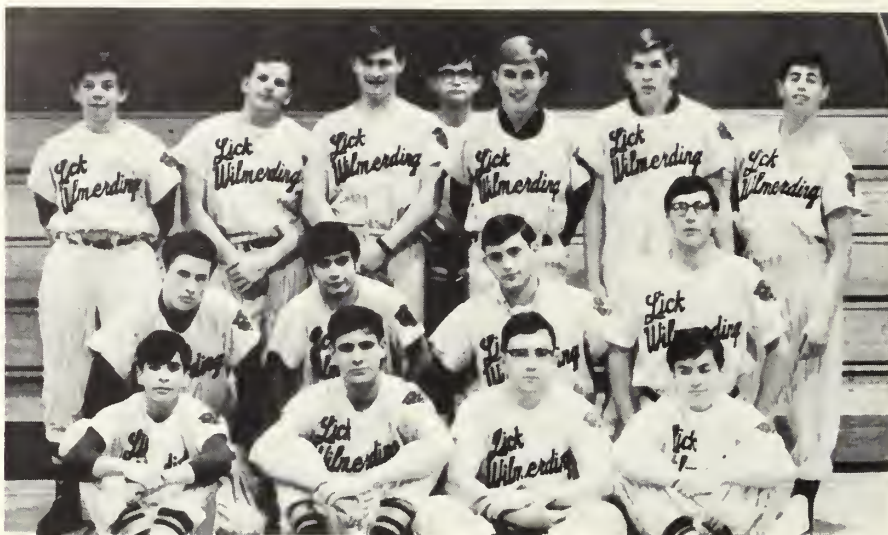

front row: d. goldman, s. wilner, b. shore, b. tronoff, b. gibbs, coach penn back row: c. devincenzi, p. vardara, m. kniesche, c. ashford, j. goldman, j. doughty, d. quinn, d. shearn, t. culp, a. silver, c. mckinney led by captain john goldman, this year's swimming team, with returners john doughty, tom culp, chip mckinney, dave quinn, phil vardara, adam silver, and clint ashford, and seven freshmen, is probably the most powerful team in the last three years. depth and strength, with not one, but five or six good swimmers, is the secret to the team's early success—already the varsity has soundly beaten petaluma and sacred heart.

however, as is the usual case, two areas are lacking on the team; a good "b" team and diving. though there are some bright spots on the junior team, this group does not present a strong challenge and has lost its first two meets. and in diving, many meets which might have been sure victories later in the season may be lost, because of the weakness in this event. yet, this year may be one of the best ever for the aqua-men: though coach penn may not get a pool, he might bring a league championship back to lick.

the varsity baseball team must be considered a contender for the b.c.l. championship this year. under the direction of new coaches bob simi and john bagatelos, the tigers field a team with talent and experience.

back from last year's team are outfielders george miers and nate kaufman who have shown that they can hit and field, infielders martin ritchie, frank robbins, al marks, and mike popovac who will compose one of the toughest offensive and defensive infields in our league and pitchers phil rapoport and ron friedman, who make up a tough one-two combination. new talent in the form of pete richards, larry wrockloff, bill wallace, jeff plack, ed glynn, bill bigarani, and steve blumlein all promise to add excellent hitting, fielding, and pitching.

the team has a tough practice schedule which should mold it into a precision ball club. already the team has developed exceptionally fast and has compiled a 3-1-1 record in the first few games. the league games are far away, but the players are already looking forward to them. the baseball championship could be in right for the tigers this year.

varsity track looks better this season than it has for many years. under the watchful eye of returning coach thomas, the team is developing very well.

the return of third-place conference hurdler don fowler, sprinters erv hintzpeter, lee linblom, charles brochard, distance runners jim walsh, richard zimmerman, and weight man gary balestin give the team much experience. new talent such as rusty selix and john vonk will also add to the team efforts.

this year will definitely show marked improvement of track at our school. a little luck will make this the best in past years and years to come.

under the expert supervision of coach jim brovelli, the tiger's tennis team figures to be a strong contender for the league championship, which has been won by lick for the past six years in a row. despite the loss of three excellent players last year, the tigers still have a wealth of talent and depth. seniors doug whitener and rusty tahir will be battling for the number one spot all year, and they will be ably backed by euie hill, a returning junior. last year's big surprises, dave massie and stu rosenberg, come back this year to try it again. along with seasoned veteran john dunphy, freshman dave tahir rounds out the top seven, but they'll be pressed hard for their position by hut landon, joel curtis, and mike hinman.

in lick's only match of the year, the team swept by woodrow wilson by winning four out of five matches. it should be noted that this feat was accomplished with relative ease, even though three front-liners, including tahir and whitener, were not playing. all in all, it looks as if the tennis team will definitely uphold lick's fine tradition of athletic prowess and achievement.

after two years of soccer, lick has finally moved up to a high level of competition. our new english teacher, mr. cordon, has taken over the reins as coach directing what is still a very young team (there are only 8 upper classmen—all juniors) in the s.f.p.a.l.—police athletic league. our bengal booters have not won any contests at this writing, but have managed three ties against experienced opposition. the highlight of the season was a 1-1 tie with the vikings of lowell when we had only eight men to oppose their full squad.

the team is led by captain jim kerner, the center half, steve katz, the leading scorer, and ken perluss, who has three shutouts to his credit and is virtually indispensable as goalie. others who have distinguished themselves by scorers goals are phil youngman, mike bernstein, and rusty selix. despite the rather weak record this year, soccer's future is quite bright as the entire team returns intact for next year.

the joy and the sorrow, the excitement of entering a new way of life and the internal sadness of departure, the praised winner and the shunned loser, the awaited vacations and cramming for exams: this is but a small fragment of the daily experience in attending high school. and, to those who partake in its experience, lick-wilmerding contains every aspect of high school life. but writing alone cannot express the true feelings and activities of those people attached to lick. as the saying goes, "a picture is worth a thousand words." in this volume of the lick-wilmerding tiger, the staff has tried to compress into a few pages the many emotions of lick's members. perhaps this book is only a partial glimpse of high school life, but only a daily journal could include every happening at lick. to those who have applied their ingenuity to the success of this annual, i give my thanks: to pete richards for his fine sports coverage; to bill faisst and george miers for continuous aid in layout and decision; to dave klonoff and pete kitchell for their help in the design of the book; and my sincere gratitude to rym maggiora for the excellence of his photography under even times of intense suffering and ridiculous overwork. to these persons and to all of the many others who have contributed to this annual, the yearbook is a summation of their effort. i hope that in the years to come there will be an editor who has had a staff like mine, if there can ever be another one.

sincerely,
john goldman
